Instructions to Contributors

The Indian Journal of Gastroenterology is the official publication of the Indian Society of Gastroenterology. This peer-reviewed Journal is published bimonthly (January, March, May, July, September, November), as a medium for articles related to the digestive tract and diseases. It is indexed by the National Informatics Center, New Delhi, and indexed and abstracted by Excerpta Medica, the Netherlands, and Index Medicus and Medline, USA.

Manuscripts submitted should not have been published earlier or be under simultaneous consideration for publication by any other journal. A statement to this effect (Authors’ Declaration) signed by the authors must be faxed to the Journal simultaneously (email not acceptable). Violation may lead to a published retraction of the article by the Journal and other actions as deemed necessary by the editor. Accepted manuscripts become the permanent property of the Journal and may not be reproduced, in whole or in part, without the written permission of the editor. Submissions received without the signed copyright transfer statement (Authors’ Declaration) will not be processed.

Studies involving human subjects or animals should have received the approval of the institutional ethics committee. A statement to this effect must be included in the manuscript text. The Journal has the right to ask for a copy of the ethics clearance letter. If the institution does not have a formal ethics committee, a statement signed by the authors that the terms of the Helsinki Agreement have been adhered to will be necessary.

Each manuscript received by the Journal is assigned a manuscript number. Please provide this number in all communications. If you do not receive an acknowledgement within a week, please email or fax us. All efforts are made to provide an editorial decision to authors as soon as possible, usually within 8 weeks of submission.

Manuscripts instructions

Manuscripts should be submitted in electronic version, as document or in Rich Text Format (.rtf), to editor@indianjgastro.com. All files should be formatted using American English spellings and 12-point Times New Roman font.

Arrange the manuscripts as follows: Title page, Abstract, Introduction, Methods, Results, Discussion, References, Tables, Figures, Legends.

Editorials and Review Articles will generally be by invitation. Contributors who wish to submit uninvited reviews may discuss details by email with the editor prior to submission. Authors should be working in and have published papers in the area being reviewed and have sufficient expertise to critically evaluate the relevant literature.

Text of Original Articles should be less than 10 typed pages; the article should not ordinarily contain more than 3 Tables and 2 Figures. Case submissions must deal with well-studied clinical problems that contribute to understanding of diagnosis and management and may provide material for further research. Their text length may not exceed 6 typed pages, with no more than 1 Table and 1 Figure. Uncommon diseases or unusual clinical presentations may also be submitted (not exceeding 4 text pages, 1 Figure and 5 References), but are not encouraged. Letters discussing material published recently in the Journal, short studies, observations and opinions may also be submitted (up to 750 words with a maximum of 1 Table or Figure and 10 references). Images of special interest may be submitted with an accompanying 2-paragraph text and up to 2 references.

Clinico-pathologic conferences: These articles (about 4000 to 5000 words) are edited transcripts of the discussion of a patient (whose clinical details are provided) by a clinical discussant, followed by the findings at a definitive test (biopsy, autopsy, confirmatory serological test, etc.) discussed by a pathologist. Appropriate radiological and histological images should be included.

Obituaries: This should refer to a doctor working in India or of Indian origin, related to digestive sciences, who left her/his mark on society or on the profession and whose contributions need to be highlighted. A brief sketch (up to 500 words) of the person’s personal and professional life along with a photograph may be submitted.

In animal studies, the title should state the species; all other titles will refer to human studies. State names of authors (including first names), the departments and the institution where the work was done. The Journal reserves the right to ask for and publish the contribution of each author to an article. Any potential conflict of interest, financial or otherwise, should be declared. A short running title, not exceeding 40 characters, should be provided. Mention the name, postal address, facsimile number and email address of the corresponding author. Acknowledgements, if any, may be mentioned on this page.

Abstract

Original Articles and Review Articles should include a structured Abstract with the following or similar headings and information: Background/Objective, Methods, Results, and Conclusions. Case submissions should also include a brief descriptive Abstract.

References

Identify references in the text by superscript numbers. Number references in the order in which they first appear in the text. Publications as Abstract and Letter should be so identified in parenthesis. The responsibility for accuracy of references lies with the authors. The Journal is in agreement with the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors. Therefore, the general arrangement, abbreviations of journal names and punctuations followed are as per the Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts submitted to Biomedical Journals (See www.icmje.org, www.nlm.nih.gov/bsd/uniform_requirements.html).
Tables

Each Table should be typed double-spaced and numbered consecutively in arabic numerals. Necessary explanatory notes, if any, may be given below the Table.

Figures/Illustrations/Photographs

Figures should be submitted as separate files in jpg, gif or tif format. If the article is accepted, authors will be required to submit Figures in high-resolution (e.g., .bmp) format. In clinical photographs, patient’s identity should be suitably masked; in case this is not possible, a copy of the patient’s written permission should accompany the manuscript. Figure number (numbered consecutively in arabic numerals), title and explanations should appear only in the legend.

Units

All measurements must be in metric units, preferably with corresponding SI units in parenthesis.

Reprints

Reprints order and payment for reprints must be placed at the time of approval of proofs.

All manuscripts submitted to this Journal must be accompanied by this declaration signed by all authors, before they can be processed editorially. In exceptional circumstances, if it cannot be signed by an author, the principal or corresponding author can take responsibility and sign on behalf; this should be accompanied by an explanatory note providing reason.

This document can be photocopied as required for submission.

Authors’ Declaration

We, the authors of the article entitled “..........................................................” submitted for consideration for publication in the Indian Journal of Gastroenterology, declare that

a. we have seen and approved the text of the manuscript, and take responsibility for its contents as its authors; we consent to its publication in the Indian Journal of Gastroenterology if it is accepted for publication by the Journal;
b. this work in the submitted or an essentially similar version has not been published elsewhere in any language, is not under simultaneous consideration for publication elsewhere, and will not be submitted for publication elsewhere while under consideration by the Indian Journal of Gastroenterology. This does not duplicate any data previously reported. If any part of the material submitted has been previously published, except in the form of an Abstract, we enclose copies of the previous publication;
c. in consideration of the Indian Journal of Gastroenterology taking action in editing and reviewing our submission, we hereby transfer, assign or otherwise convey all copyright ownership to the Indian Society of Gastroenterology in the event that this article is published in the Indian Journal of Gastroenterology.
