Instructions to Contributors

The Indian Journal of Gastroenterology is the official publication of the Indian Society of Gastroenterology. This peer-reviewed Journal is published bimonthly (January, March, May, July, September, November), as a medium for articles related to digestive diseases. It is indexed by the National Informatics Center, New Delhi, and indexed and abstracted by Index Medicus, the Netherlands, and Index Medicus and Medline, USA.

Manuscripts submitted should not have been published earlier or be under simultaneous consideration for publication by any other journal. A statement to this effect (Authors' Declaration) signed by the authors should accompany each manuscript. Violation may lead to a published retraction of the article by the Journal and other actions as deemed necessary by the editor. Accepted manuscripts become the permanent property of the Journal and may not be reproduced, in whole or in part, without the written permission of the editor.

Studies involving intervention in human subjects or animals should have received the approval of the institutional ethics committee. A statement to this effect must be included in the manuscript text. If the institution has no formal ethics committee, a statement signed by the authors that the terms of the Helsinki Agreement have been adhered to will be necessary.

We encourage authors to submit manuscripts in electronic version, as a Word document or in Rich Text Format (rtf), to editors@indianjgastro.com; accompanying Figures should be as .jpg file attachments. Printed copies need not be submitted then. If the article is accepted, authors will be required to submit Figures as hard copies or in high-resolution (e.g., .bmp) format. A printed copy of the signed Authors' Declaration must be submitted if the article is accepted for publication.

Manuscripts must conform to the instructions given below.

General

Submit two complete sets when submitting as print copies. Type the manuscript double-spaced throughout on A4 size bond paper, with 3-cm margins all around. Authors of accepted articles will need to send the electronic version if this has not been done already. Only the Figures of rejected articles will be returned to the authors.

Arrange the manuscripts as follows: Title page, Abstract, Introduction, Methods, Results, Discussion, References, Tables, Figures, Legends. Number all pages consecutively, beginning with the title page. Figures and Tables must be referred to in the manuscript. Consult a recent issue of the Journal for details.

Editorials, Special Articles and articles for the Gastroenterology in India section will generally be by invitation. The Journal does not publish general review articles.

Length of articles

Text of Original Articles should be less than 10 typed pages, the article should not ordinarily contain more than 3 Tables and 2 Figures. Case Reports must deal with well-studied clinical problems that contribute to understanding of diagnosis and management and may provide material for further research. Their text length may not exceed 6 typed pages, with no more than 1 Table and 1 Figure. Uncommon disease or unusual clinical presentations may be submitted as Case Snippets, not exceeding 4 text pages, and a maximum of 1 Figure and 5 References. Letters discussing material published recently in the Journal, brief presentations of data, or those pertaining to issues of relevance to health policy, practice of medicine, or the like, are welcome. These should not exceed 2 typed pages, 1 Table and 5 References.

Title page

In animal studies, the title should state the species; all other titles will refer to human studies. State names of authors (including first names), the departments and the institution where the work was done. The Journal reserves the right to ask for the contribution of each author to an article. A short running title, not exceeding 40 characters, should be provided. Type the name, postal address, facsimile number and E-mail address of the author to whom communications and proofs are to be sent. Acknowledgements, if any, may be mentioned on this page.

Abstract

Original Articles and Special Articles should include a structured Abstract with the following or similar headings and information: Background/Objective, Methods, Results, and Conclusions. [See Ann Intern Med 1990;113:69-76]. References should not be included. Less than 10 key words or short phrases, not present in the title, to assist indexing, should be typed in alphabetical order below the Abstract; these may be obtained from the Medical Subject Headings (MeSH) in Index Medicus.

References

Identify references in the text by superscript numbers. Number references in the order in which they first appear in the text. Type references double-spaced on sheets separate from the text. Publications as abstract and letter should be so identified in parenthesis. The responsibility for accuracy of references lies with the authors. The Journal is in agreement with the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors. Therefore, the general arrangement, abbreviations of journal names and punctuations followed are as per the Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts submitted to Biomedical Journals (See N Engl J Med 1997;335:309-15). Pay particular attention to the style of references and punctuations as follows:

Journal article: List all authors when six or less: Mistry FP, Karnad DR, Abraham P, Bhatia SJ. A scoring system to differentiate cirrhosis from non-cirrhosis portal hypertension. Indian J Gastroenterol 1991;10:82-5. When there are seven or more authors, list only the first six and add 'et al'.

Tables

Each Table should be typed double-spaced on a separate sheet and numbered consecutively in Arabic numerals. Necessary explanatory notes, if any, may be given below the Table.

Figures/illustrations/Photographs
